For our students, the “world” has changed dramatically—school, opportunities, energy, media, stewardship, technology, relationships... yet SOCIAL NETWORKING has seen an incredible 37% rise! Love it or leave it, the technology has created a huge fan base and provided a means to reconnect with those long lost contacts, or keep up with the “fast pace” of life. Maybe you haven’t tweeted, or don’t text regularly, or have a facebook account, yet It’s predicted that 90% of the Next Generation will be connected in some form by 2012. Are they really linked? And to who? Do these online bonds allow masks, and promote masquerades?

Worse, do they form barriers or hurt feelings (even between family and friends)? Let’s take a walk through I Corinthians 4-7, looking at how we can remain REAL and authentic (with and despite the technology).

A ton of interactive activities, challenges, games, music, Providing a Relevant Background.... Even some safety guidelines, expectations, What’s Next for the technology? For you?

Answering--Can Paul and the bible (a 2000 year old book) really have something to say about all this?

What kind of network do you belong to? If you could design a network, what would it look like?

Do my connections really help with my life’s struggles?

Can we keep that phony face off? How? Should we?

Total cost is 60.00

Whether in my role as Engineer, Teacher, Youth Pastor, Economic Development specialist and/or Military Pilot, I’ve loved a CHALLENGE. Regardless of the task before me, God has been an essential part of my life since Junior High (some years were better than others—tee hee).

I’ve always loved school, and have acquired an Engineering degree, a business degree and an MDIV. I made a commitment to serve God where ever that might lead as an adult—that has meant landing in Cincinnati (21 years ago) after working in over 86 countries (420 cities). I’m currently involved in the following ministries:

- SE Cincinnati Youth Pastor
Network Coordinator
- Whiz Kids– KidsGames –Break–Out Clubs Director
- MISSIONS: Go Mamelodi
Go Mumbai
